

Margaret Impatient to See Canada

By MARGARET SAVILLE
LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret will be making her first official visit to Canada when she arrives in Victoria July 12 and she confides it's "about time, too."

"I'm the only member of the family who hasn't been to America yet," she recently told a friend.

The princess has wanted to see North America for several years and in fact, several tours were actually planned for her. But each time something happened to prevent them from coming off.

When Princess Margaret arrives next week it will not be the first time she has actually set foot on Canadian soil.

En route for the British West Indies in February, 1955, her aircraft touched down at Montreal but she did not leave it. On her second Caribbean trip earlier this year the princess' plane called at Gander, Nfld., on both outward and homeward bound trips.

"It was so bitterly aggravating," Princess Margaret told friends later, because strict court etiquette prevented her from actually taking a drive locally or otherwise enjoying a brief look-around during her stopovers.

Since she had not been officially invited and received in Canada, Princess Margaret just wasn't there for the official record. So she had to stay close to her aircraft and remain strictly incognito all the time.

This week Princess Margaret is busy with her final preparations at Clarence House, opposite St. James's Palace, the big white-painted London mansion she shares with Queen Elizabeth, the queen mother.

The princess has her own suite of rooms like a self-contained apartment on the second floor and these rooms are now littered with tissue-paper and boxes and bags and packages as her Scots maid, Ruby, attends to all the baggage. Princess Margaret will be in Canada for about a week.

Canada Tops U.S. In Economic Health

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada's economy at present is generally healthier than that of the United States, Revenue Minister George Nowlan said last night.

He added that unemployment in Canada was up 68 per cent over last year but was still below the U.S. increase of 80.6 per cent.

Strike Vote Taken

Ballots cast by 350 members of the Seafarers' International Union yesterday in a secret vote that will decide if CPR ferries resume service immediately, will not be counted until this morning.

Norman Cunningham, SIU port agent in Vancouver, said he had "no idea" whether the vote was in favor or against accepting the recommendations made by Labor Minister Michael Starr.

STARR'S PROPOSAL

Mr. Starr, following the suggestion of federal mediator Eric Taylor, proposed: immediate and voluntary resumption of the ferry service by the company, SIU and two officers' unions involved in the dispute, and arbitration of the original pre-conciliation positions of both sides by a federal appointee to be completed by Aug. 15.

THREE CENTRES VOTE

The vote was conducted in Vancouver, Nanaimo and Victoria.

Walter Say, shop steward here, said the ballots cast by some 30 seamen here had been mailed unopened to Vancouver.

Mr. Cunningham said Nanaimo votes wouldn't arrive in Vancouver until this morning, and a special committee would then count the entire vote and announce results.

Fire Claims Oil Worker

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (CP) — One worker was reported killed in an explosion and 45-minute-long fire at the Regent Refining Limited refinery Thursday night.

Toronto township firemen said at least two others were injured. The township pumper was stopped from assisting by a traffic tie-up but its six men made their way to the fire on foot.

U.K. Coast Atomic Threat Fake?

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Embassy said Thursday night it had received an anonymous letter in which a man who claimed to be an American pilot proposed to drop an atomic bomb "not very far from the coast of England."

The Soviet news agency, Tass, said the letter to the Soviet ambassador, Jacob Malik, had been handed over to the British foreign office.

The U.S. Embassy's first reaction was: "We think the letter is a fake." The British foreign office also is understood to consider the letter a "fake" by the writer—not by the Soviet Embassy.

The Soviet announcement quoted the letter writer as saying:

"TIME TO ACT"

"I can help your country a great deal and it's my firm intention to do so soon. Enough water has passed under the bridge and it's time to act."

"Dulles and NATO have turned their backs on the good will extended to them by the Russian leaders. Dulles will have to be forced to accept that good will."

The writer said his target would be far enough off the English coast "so that too many people won't be killed. Our D-Day will be sometime after July 1."

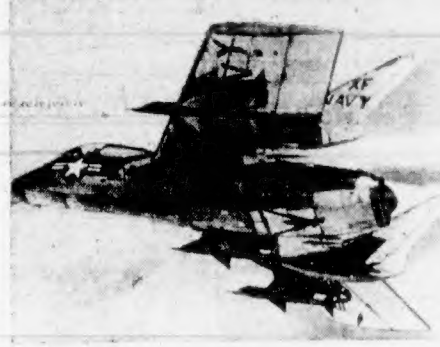

The political affairs officer told a reporter he had a letter from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld notifying him he was dismissed effective today on 17 charges.

He said he will fight the dismissal before the UN administrative tribunal and is convinced he would be reinstated.

Bang-Jensen made up the witness list as deputy secretary of the five-nation special inquiry committee, on Hungary last year. He refused last fall to give the list to Hammarskjöld for the UN archives. Hammarskjöld suspended him from his post seven months ago.

Bang-Jensen explained he had promised that only he on the UN staff would know their names.

Wouldn't Talk, Fired by UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Povl Bang-Jensen, a United Nations official from Denmark, said Thursday night he has been fired for refusing to give up a secret list of 81 Hungarian refugees who testified in a UN investigation.

The inquiry that moved the General Assembly to condemn the Soviet Union for its part in the 1956 Hungarian revolt.

After Povl Bang-Jensen's disclosure, UN officials confirmed that he had been fired, saying he had been given ample opportunity to defend himself.

'Laws Flouted' Says Chamber

Retail merchants' group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce charged yesterday that some downtown stores were "making illegal sales every day" and should be prosecuted.

"The offenders are well known," group member Gordon Jennings stated. "You can buy garden tools, working clothes, garden furniture, binoculars, electric razors and all kinds of merchandise on Sunday, for example."

The retail merchants group claimed the stores in question were selling goods not approved for sale in provincial legislation at hours after legal closing.

"If the legislation is enforceable it should be enforced," said Aubrey Kent, "The police should be looking after this—they should have spotters out."

R. A. H. Lort, chairman of the retail merchants group, said the city had "no automatic enforcement" of the laws governing such sales.

"They'll prosecute only if a specific complaint is laid," he said.

Members charged the situation "is getting worse all the time" and that stores selling goods illegally were expanding premises "to keep up with business."

A resolution asking the city council to enforce the law fully was unanimously endorsed.

Also urged is the establishment of a system of "progressively increasing fines" for repeated offences.

Battle for Converts

Christians Losing Out

TORONTO (CP) — Anti-Christian movements are making more converts than the Christian Church, says Dr. Theodore Adams, president of the Baptist World Alliance.

Speaking at the closing session of the fifth World Baptist Youth conference, the American clergyman said:

"We are not the only missionary faith in the world today. We face an awakened Buddhism that is making thousands of converts, especially in India and Burma; an aroused Mohammedanism is out to win a world of its faith; Muslims in Africa have been making three times as many converts as Christianity."

"Christianity comes face to face in many lands with a new nationalism that often is linked with religion and sometimes makes it difficult for us to carry on missionary activity."

A-Help Pledged To Britain, France

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States pledged Thursday to help Britain build atomic submarines under a sweeping agreement restoring their sharing of nuclear weapons secrets.

At the same time, Secretary of State Dulles promised immediate help to France in obtaining atomic submarines with which Premier Charles de Gaulle wants to modernize the French navy.

Dulles talked over the French situation with President Eisenhower for two hours before flying to Paris for a round of talks with Gen. de Gaulle on the Middle East, Russia and atomic matters.

His most pressing discussion appeared to be aimed at learning whether France is determined to push ahead alone to develop its own atomic bombs as some diplomatic reports have hinted.

The development of stainless steel has proved many remarkable changes in both the appearance and convenience of Canadian homes. Stainless steel sinks made with Inco Nickel are a good example. They not only brighten and beautify the kitchen, they make household tasks far easier. The manufacture of stainless steel sinks, using nickel supplied by Inco, has become a thriving industry in Canada, providing employment for many Canadians.

These operations—from the time the ore is mined until the finished sink is installed—provide jobs for thousands of Canadian workmen. That's how Inco Nickel helps promote the growth and development of industry in Canada.

Westcoast Transmission

Transport Board Should Rule Gas

TORONTO (CP)—A natural gas company has suggested the board of transport commissioners should be authorized to act temporarily as a national energy board to regulate the natural gas industry.

General manager D. P. McDonald of Westcoast Transmission Company yesterday told the Borden commission on energy such a move would avoid delay in clarifying government policy on exporting gas.

Westcoast president Frank M. McMahon told the hearings that the lack of a firm export policy deters exploration for reserves.

Westcoast said, in its view the national energy board should not deal with the regulation or control of production, wellhead or field prices, transportation within a province or ultimate price to consumers.

SHOULD BE LIMITED

A federal energy commission's power to fix prices in Canada should be limited to purposes of reviewing sales contracts between pipeline and distributing companies and fixing charges, terms and conditions of service.

Mr. McMahon, a native of Mayle, B.C., who lives in Calgary, said he is "not happy" with the 22 cents for each 1,000 cubic feet Westcoast supplies to Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corporation, which supplies the U.S. northwest.

LITTLE TO DO

He said there is little he can do about his dissatisfaction. Westcoast entered into a 20-year contract with Pacific Northwest. The contract enabled Westcoast to build a 650-mile pipeline from the Peace River area in Alberta to Vancouver.

"Why don't you just go to them and tell them you want more money?" asked J. J. Fraser, of Ottawa, counsel for the Alberta government, which criticized the 22-cent price compared with the 32 to 34 cents paid CIO vice-president and member

Hoffa Busy Building Vast Transport Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa Thursday linked half the transport workers in the U.S. in a giant mutual aid pact. And he said he'll complete a land-sea-air labor combine before the summer is over.

Hoffa denied a suggestion he was erecting a big transport monopoly. He said it was merely a union alliance to deal with common transportation industry problems.

The Teamsters Union has been ousted from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges. But Hoffa won two key AFL-CIO unions into his new "permanent conference on transportation unity."

One of those signing the deal with Hoffa was Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, representing East Coast sailors. Curran, an AFL with the 32 to 34 cents paid CIO vice-president and member

Not What Expected

ANNOUNCEMENT by Transport Minister Hees that a federal contract for construction of a new air terminal building at Patricia Bay airport may be let during 1959 without mention of runway lengthening has come as a shock to those who know the pressing needs of this airfield which is at the western terminus of the TCA system. Does this mean that Patricia Bay has been put to the foot of the list among civil airports in Canada, to wait its turn a year from now or at any future time when the transport department may return to the pigeon-hole? Bitter disappointment would be induced by any such crippling delay.

If there was one assurance that Defence Minister Pearkes gave the electors of his home constituency, when seeking return to Parliament in the March election, it was that the improvements badly needed at Patricia Bay would be set in hand without delay. Mr. Pearkes confirmed this as recently as six weeks ago by saying that the first phase of the Patricia Bay work was to be set going immediately. Meanwhile, the best anyone can make out of Mr. Hees' statement now is that nothing will happen at the airport for possibly a year. This is in direct contravention of the repeated pledges made from the hustings not only by the sitting member for the constituency but also by all supporting speakers. Anyone can "do nothing," Mr. Pearkes said he would secure action.

Nor is there the slightest room for misunderstanding of what is wanted at Patricia Bay and why it should be done now. Mr. Pearkes outlined the improvements categorically: there was needed, he said, provision of an adequate air terminal building; the lengthening of two main runways from 5,000 to 7,000 feet; a rerouting of the boundary road on the airport's east flank; and such incidental improvement to customs, passenger-handling, car-parking and other public facilities as would measure up to the brisk use of the airport and its growing importance for the future.

To have to infer now, through the government's silence on any runway extension, that this recognition and correct appraisal of the patent needs at Patricia Bay airport made on the spot could be pigeon-holed for a year comes as a shock. If this work was necessary when the ground was examined it is no less urgently needed now. The dribble of federal outlays at Patricia Bay in the last ten years left a badly rundown condition, even while the use of the airfield trebled. Mr. Pearkes was believed in his assurance that this condition would be remedied forthwith. The needed work should be done.

War on the Hooligans

PEOPLE who did not know before should be fully aware now if they read the police court reports that drinking in parks, on beaches or in any other public place is an offence punishable by a severe fine and a measure of public disgrace. During the last few weeks there has been encouraging evidence of increased police vigilance over conduct at such places, with particular attention to those where children congregate. There have been many more prosecutions than usual for offences such as drinking or being in possession of intoxicants at public resorts.

Among those who have been caught or who may be caught in future as this supervision is intensified may be some decent citizens whose behavior ordinarily is above reproach: people who may not have thought of beer at a picnic as a breach of the law, any more than beer on a hot day in their own gardens. But lawbreaking it definitely is, and the police cannot discriminate between one type of liquor-drinking picknicker and another. It's their job to police public places indiscriminately.

This campaign, for which the authorities are to be thanked, has been brought on by those insufferable rowdies who seem to take a delight in ruining others' enjoyment of the beaches and parks. In all probability it is they, too, whose insane bottle smashing results in painful and often quite serious injuries to barefooted little swimmers.

Somewhat this wave of hooliganism, which is turning decent families away from the resorts, has to be stopped, and it is good to see that the police are determined to do so. It has never been the practice of any of the police forces here to harass people out for a jolly day in the sun; but if appeals fail to produce better behavior from the rowdy elements formal charges are the only answer. Stern punishment from the courts ought to do the trick.

But if the police are to succeed in the "clean-up" of irregular drinking habits which the public is demanding, they must have the public's support.

Becoming a Canadian

ANY advice that rebukes new Canadians for retaining an attachment to the land of their birth is neither wise nor cognizant of the realities of human nature. It is impossible in taking the oath of allegiance to Canada summarily to cut oneself off mentally from previous associations. Nor is it a tactful thing to warn new Canadians that as such they could be called upon to fight against relatives in their native countries. Many Europeans have suffered this agony of soul and mind in two world wars and individuals never called upon to experience such an ordeal should be wary of how they mention so delicate a matter.

In any case newcomers officially becoming Canadians are not expected or asked to renounce their religions, language and cultures, but instead to learn and use either of the two languages of Canada and to be loyal to the land they have adopted. To imply therefore that they should throw overboard their whole former existence as though it had never been is not only contradictory but shows a sad lack of understanding. The emphasis at formal citizenship occasions should be on the welcome accorded the new settlers, and not a warning asking them to do the impossible. Given time they will gradually fit into the customs and modes of Canada but this cannot come about in a twinkling.

Far from dropping their native cultures in fact these when transposed enrich and strengthen the life of Canada. Many of the new Canadians bring with them arts and practices of value to their new land, both economically and aesthetically. Canada is in reality a polyglot assemblage, welding the strains of a score of races into a new single stream, and it will be so for many years yet to come. The primary obligation, is to fit oneself into the life of this country, adopt its laws and customs, and be loyal to its destiny. It is no kind of initiation to rebuke newcomers for what they are when they arrive or assume that in becoming Canadian their new allegiance is somehow suspect.

Interpreting the News

Nasser Caught in the Middle

By CHARLES M. McCANN
UPI Foreign News Analyst

RELATIONS between Soviet Russian leaders and President Nasser of the United Arab Republic seem to be entering a cooling-off period.

Nasser sailed recently for a visit to President Tito of Yugoslavia.

Russia has made Nasser its chief instrument in its campaign of penetration into the Middle East.

Russia's relations with Tito, at the same time, are near the breaking point.

Dispatches from Cairo say that Nasser hopes to make his visit to Tito without antagonizing Russia.

How that can happen it is difficult to see. It is more likely that the Russians will regard Nasser's visit as a diplomatic slap-which it seems to be.

A brief Belgrade dispatch last month quoted an official spokesman as saying that Nasser would make the visit.

At that time, the Russian and Chinese Communist regimes were bitterly attacking Tito as a renegade, and the announcement caused some surprise.

Russian-Yugoslav relations became even worse when it was announced that Hungarian revolt leaders Imre Nagy and Pal Maleter had been executed. Nagy had been arrested after the Russians induced him to leave the Yugoslav embassy in Budapest, promising him safe conduct. Later Tito had been promised that Nagy would not be tried. The Russian treachery naturally outraged him.

Because of the increased bitterness between Tito and the Kremlin, it seemed possible that Nasser's visit might be called off.

But it was officially disclosed in Cairo that Nasser would go through with his plan.

Cairo dispatches say that Nasser will try to draw Tito toward the "neutralist" bloc. This, Cairo argues, would be preferable from the Soviet viewpoint than a move by Tito toward closer relations with the Allies.

Any such hope seems overoptimistic. Since Tito broke with Josef Stalin in 1948, he has shown a determination to follow his own course and not to tie himself to any bloc.

If any "selling" is done as the result of Nasser's visit, Tito is likely to do it.

It is probable that Nasser is, as reported, getting somewhat anxious over the extent to which he has tied Egypt's economy to Russia.

It is pretty certain also that his visit to Russia in May was a most limited success. Nasser did not seem to be much impressed by what he saw and heard.

In view of the recent soaking Britons have had of World Series Football on TV and radio, says Giles, there will be no complaints from certain members of the family during the weeks of Wimbledon tennis.

On the Record

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

HOW many are aware that the United States and British governments have given a firm commitment to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Lebanon to land troops in that country if he asks for their protection for his government?

He may do so at any moment. The United Nations secretary-general and the team he has taken there are unlikely to "pacify" the civil war. But would Anglo-American troops be pacifying factors?

Why would our troops be there?

To talk an anti-Western movement with solid grass roots in that tiny, beautiful eastern Mediterranean country that lies directly north of Israel and has, otherwise, frontiers on the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria, headed by Gamal Abdel Nasser. They would be there to support an anti-Nasser government which claims that its neighbor and leader are flagrantly intervening in internal Lebanese affairs.

We have no doubt that President Nasser's government is supporting the opposition in Lebanon. But we also have no doubt that this opposition needs no instigation from Nasser. It is pro-Nasser on its own account and voluntarily.

Why are the Lebanese, probably a majority of them, anti-Western?

Lebanon is culturally the most Western Arab country. Its economic ties are with the West.

They are anti-Western because the West opposes federation of the Middle East Arab states — a development which they consider to be natural and historically inevitable.

They do not like military alliances between the West and part of the Arab World, considering these to be divisive, corruptive, and a menace to self-determination.

They are anti-Western because the West has chosen to make Mr. Nasser into an "enemy," and brand him as a "Russian stooge," which he is certainly trying not to become.

They do not like certain American foreign-aid policies, which have given priority to projects of military rather than social use.

They are anti-American because Americans, sent out by government agencies, are driving up prices, taking over the best apartments, consenting to outrageous rents, and openly arguing that what they don't spend would just go back to the American treasury.

From the viewpoint of this columnist, sending American troops to any Arab country would be about as effective as sending them to Little Rock. Where do they go from there? Would the presence of American troops make the Lebanese or Jordanian, or Iraqi people fonder of the government that called them? Would it quell the pan-Arab movement, embodied in the person of Nasser?

When has foreign intervention in a civil rebellion ever been effective unless as in Hungary. It was barbarically ruthless?

There are ways of preventing such revolts. But American policy in the Middle East has directly contributed to the revolutionary spirit of the whole area. It has been brainless.

Anyhow, Americans have a right to inquire under whose advice the president made the commitments he did — and whether, in a showdown, he would even keep them.

International Commentary

Why Were They Executed?

By W. N. EWER, from London

I CANNOT remember the whole world being so shocked and horrified by a single short announcement as it has been by the announcement of the execution of Imre Nagy, Pal Maleter and their comrades.

Only in countries completely under Soviet control have there been words of approval for the deed. Even Communist parties in the free world have not dared to applaud. The Daily Worker, official organ of the British Communist Party, found a fumbling phrase about "regrettable necessity." One of the party's outstanding personalities, Mr. Arthur Horner, secretary of the National Union of Mineworkers, bluntly declared that he was "shocked and horrified" by this "needless folly."

It is not a simple fact of judicial murder of Communists by Communists that has aroused such horror. That is a feature of Communism with which we have been familiar for 20 years and more; though there have been those who have been persuaded until now that it had passed away with Stalin. This case has its own tragic elements.

There is the fact that Nagy and Maleter were lured to imprisonment by treachery. There is the fact that solemn pledges given to the Yugoslav government were coldly broken. There is the memory of Rajk, similarly accused, tried, convicted and executed on evidence which the Communists themselves later admitted to have been forged and fabricated.

And there is that final macabre quality in the whole story—the mystery of motive. At first sight it is difficult to understand why these men should be killed at this moment. Clearly they represented no danger to the Kadar regime. It is not even alleged that they had tried to engage in any political activity since their arrest. The appearance is that of a crime without a motive.

Yet motive there must be, for there can be no question that both the deed and the timing of its announcement were a deliberate political decision. The key, I am sure, lies not in the killing but in the announcement of the killing. The men were killed in order that the world—on both sides of the Iron Curtain—should be told that they had been killed. It is a notification—contrived to have the maximum of dramatic impact—that under a Communist regime opposition may still lead not only to prison but to the gallows. "Revisionism" comments the Czechoslovak official paper, "is treason."

That one feels sure is a threat to Tito, a warning to Gomulka, a warning, too, to any critics of Khrushchev in the Soviet Union itself; a warning not only to the "old guard" of the party, but to all who are malcontented or restless. It is a sign that there is sufficient discontent to cause anxiety in the Kremlin.

But what of the world outside?

Did Khrushchev decide that reasons of inner policy were so compelling that the effect on world opinion must be risked? I think not. I think that the impact on this side of the Iron Curtain was intended. Khrushchev wished to shock the world. He certainly succeeded.

For it all fits in with the immediate pattern of Soviet foreign policy. I have felt sure for many weeks past that the one objective of that policy has been to get rid of the "meeting." The proposal has served its propaganda purpose. The meeting itself was never seriously desired. Now Soviet leadership wants to induce the Western powers to call the whole project off and to denounce them for doing so.

That, as I say, fits in with other moves; with the deliberate deadlocking of the Moscow talks, with the hostile tone of the latest Khrushchev letters, with the sudden violent attacks on the West in the Soviet press. What is a more effective way of preventing a summit meeting than to remind the Western powers not only of the ruthlessness of the Soviet regime but of the difficulty of placing any reliance on Soviet undertakings?

Externally, then, I see in the executions another signal that the Soviet government does not at the present time want any lessening of international tension. It is reverting to the policies and practices of the cold war.

And that in turn may well be a sign of internal troubles. Once again the Soviet people are being exhorted to be on their guard against the wicked designs of the "imperialists" and their instruments. Every effort is being made to excite anti-Western feelings. A surge of horror and indignation at the fate of Nagy and his fellows is itself being exploited for that purpose. It is a familiar device of despots confronted with unrest among their own people.

So, if I am right, the executions and the manner of their announcement were not as Mr. Horner feels, "senseless folly." They were a coldly calculated political move.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

PERHAPS never in human history have we so generally flattered ourselves as we are doing now. We fill the air with our praises. What miracles we are performing! Never a day goes by but the press, radio, TV and movies vie with one another in sounding the wonders of human genius.

But all around us this week the young birds are fledging from the nest.

Let us whoa and think about them for a minute. Let's take the common kilted plover that we see, whether we know it or not, along every country road from coast to coast in Canada.

Twenty-six days ago the female kilted laid the last of her four eggs on the bare ground in the meadow.

Today, the four eggs hatched. And, within one hour, the four chicks were up on their legs, scampering about, feeding. They came out of the shell fully clothed, with down, their eyes open, their limbs complete, going concerns.

In six weeks they will be full grown and on their way a thousand miles to the happy lands far, far away.

What slow, groping, gross creatures we are in comparison with nature's masterpieces of efficiency and swift perfection, the birds.

Per Capita Debt

Municipalities' Plight

(From The Calgary Herald)

DESPITE continuing efforts of the Alberta government to create the impression that it is exceedingly generous with Alberta municipalities where financing is concerned, this province's per capita municipal debt is the highest in Canada.

According to figures compiled by the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada and appearing in that organization's current Year Book, the gross debt per capita in Alberta for 1956 (latest year for which figures were available) amounted to $229.60. Presumably the figure is higher now.

B.C. follows Alberta in the debt picture as revealed by the statistical survey with a per capita gross debt of $191.55. Both provinces, of course, have Social Credit administrations. Ontario, next on the list, yields the figure of $163.16 which is not a low figure but substantially lower than either B.C. or Alberta.

These are the facts, to use an expression which enjoys favor with Hon. A. J. Hooke, Alberta's minister of municipal affairs, although in a vastly different context of course.

In recent broadcasts Mr. Hooke has been describing in detail, and with undisguised enthusiasm, the beneficence of the government to which he belongs. Unfortunately the glow of satisfaction which threatens to well up within his listeners tends to be dissipated by rude winds of disillusionment immediately they contemplate the inexorable fact that the debt burden borne by Alberta citizens grows heavier year by year. A cold, heartless fact which Mr. Hooke finds it convenient to ignore is that this is taking place in a province which, because of its income from the petroleum industry, is regarded with envy.

After noting that Edmonton and Calgary head the list of eighteen representative Canadian cities in terms of per capita net debt, let us turn our attention to the provincial revenue statistics.

The available figures are for 1955. Current comparisons should be about the same. Which province heads the income list? Right, Alberta, with the figure for per capita current expendable revenue totalling $172.63. Next comes B.C. with $143.82, then Saskatchewan with $115.54. Ontario only reports $89.71.

The least the Alberta government should do is honestly admit that its object is to pay off low-interest provincial debts while its municipalities increase their load of high-interest inflation debts. No one is being fooled, unless it is the Social Credit government.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

A nervous young commercial traveller was kept waiting in a grocer's shop by the proprietor. A girl assistant hooked a case of tinned food from a top shelf and it fell on his head, forcing his hat over his ears.

His humiliation was completed when the proprietor said: "Be careful, Miss Little. That might have been a customer."

We are a nation of nature lovers, eager to be thrilled by any scenic marvel that doesn't entail getting out of the car.

Coal in bright colors is being produced in Germany. This should appeal to people who have difficulty locating their black cat in the bin.

A flashy character charged into a Miami saloon and demanded a double Scotch and downed it in one gulp, planked a $5 bill on the bar and walked out without another word.

The bartender folded the five-spot carefully, pocketed it and remarked to the remaining bar flies: "Can you imagine a phony like that? He lapped up a double Scotch, leaves a $5 tip and then beats it without paying."

Commonwealth Neglected

LONDON (Reuters).—A young British peer, bent on strengthening the monarchy, which he edits, suggests that if the monarchy is to survive at all it must pay more attention to the Commonwealth.

Lord Altrincham published his article in the July issue of National and English Review, which he edits, suggesting that if the monarchy is to survive at all it must pay more attention to the Commonwealth.

He allowed 11 months for the howls which greeted his first public criticism of the royal circle to die down.

ties and pastimes in England. The 34-year-old aristocrat notes that the Queen took time to watch the spring horse show in England but delegated Princess Margaret to officiate at the April inauguration into the Commonwealth of the West Indies federation.

He dismisses as nonsense arguments that Royal Family life would suffer if the Queen moved from country to country in the Commonwealth, maintaining it would be little more disruptive than her shifts from palace to castle in Britain throughout the year.

Altrincham sparked a bitter controversy last August with his first article critical of the monarchy.

Threats and furious denunciations followed him—one irate loyalist publicly slapped his face after he criticized the "weedy" royal entourage for hemming in the Queen and said her speaking manner was "a pain in the neck."

"Unfortunately," said yesterday's article, "our monarchy is still based upon the doctrine that sovereignty in the United Kingdom is the basic duty while Commonwealth work, though important, is secondary."

Chemistry Counters Cultus Lake Itch

CHILLIWACK (CP).—Swimmers' itch in nearby Cultus Lake is being countered by chemistry.

Parks board crews using copper sulphate and copper carbonate in a ratio of one to two, and spraying three pounds per 1,000 square feet, began work on eradication Thursday.

The itch is caused by a microscopic snail which sticks to swimmers at the lake's edge.

Officials believe the spray will be effective within 24 hours. Beaches are expected to be "de-itched" by the weekend.

Sentry Stuns Britain

He Talked! He Talked!

LONDON (Reuters).—A stunned war office yesterday confessed it was true—a mounted sentry, helmeted, plumed, breastplate, had spoken.

The sentry, a member of the Life Guards Regiment, distinctly said to a tourist guide who was telling a party of American tourists how life guards never speak and never move on duty: "You're a liar."

"The matter is being investigated," a war office spokesman said.

It happened in Whitehall Wednesday while 34 Americans were waiting for the 4 p.m. changing of the guard.

The sentry sat motionless and stony-faced, his helmet and breastplate glistening, his scarlet tunic and white breeches spotless.

The guide was telling the tourists of the traditions of the 300-year-old regiment.

"These men, the picked soldiers of Britain, have the stiffest discipline in the world," he said. "They can remain still, absolutely still, and keep their horses still too, for an hour at a time."

Then it happened. The sentry advanced his horse a pace, lowered his sword from his shoulder, pointed it at the guide, and said clearly: "You're a liar."

Then the shock echoed and the sentry was relieved by a statue-still guard who never spoke.

Bridge Memorial At Empire Stadium

VANCOUVER (CP).—A memorial service for the 19 men who were killed in the collapse of part of the new Second Narrows bridge here will be held Sunday in Empire Stadium.

The service will be sponsored by Local 97 of the Iron Workers' Union. Eighteen men died in the disaster, and a skindiver was drowned in an attempt to recover some of the bodies.

Rev. George Turpin, padre of Shaughnessy Hospital, will officiate at the mass memorial service.

Second Chance for Failures

School Bell Peals Though It's Summer

It's summer holidays for some, but back to school for 300 junior and senior high school students in Greater Victoria who came a cropper in June examinations.

School Superintendent John Gough announced yesterday classes would start Monday morning at Oak Bay Junior High School for 300 junior high and 200 senior high students seeking to write off subjects they failed in last term.

ENROL TODAY

Final registrations will be taken at the Oak Bay Junior High starting at 9 a.m. today for students who wish to take the special four-week summer courses and have not already registered at their own schools.

The 300 junior high school students will be taking one or more of the four Grade 9 subjects, offered in the review courses. The list includes English, social studies, mathematics and science.

FIRST OFFER

Offered for the first time in the three-year history of the summer sessions is an English course for approximately 200 from five Greater Victoria senior high schools who failed the subject in June.

The students will write exams in the five subjects, Aug. 8, at the end of the course. The examinations will be comparable to those at the end of the regular term and if the student passes, he or she will be able to go on to the next school year with a clean sheet.

FREE CHARGED

A fee of $10 is charged for each subject and the classes are open only to students in the Greater Victoria school district.

The fees enable the summer school to be self-supporting and no additional expense to the taxpayer. A total of 13 teachers will be required, with Donald Smith in charge of the program, assisted by school board curriculum supervisor Denis Brown.

"We have found students who pass summer school courses do well in the following year," Mr. Gough said.

He said student attitude to the classes was good and that success in the examinations meant the student had a better foundation in the subject the following year and also was relieved of the need to repeat the subject in addition to regular courses.

Jet Crashes In Village, Kills Two

METZ, France (UP).—A U.S. Air Force jet fighter crashed into the heart of a forest village in eastern France yesterday, and touched off a fire and explosion that killed two children and injured several adults.

The pilot of the jet had ejected himself from the plane when it developed engine trouble, and parachuted to safety.

The jet plunged to earth in the hamlet of Saint-Nicolas-in-the-Forest. It landed just on the spot where 14-year-old Edith Bonnet and her brother, Herve, 3, were walking on the street. Their bodies were recovered later.

Several other villagers suffered burns and some houses caught fire.

Toronto Has Busiest Day In 12 Months

TORONTO (CP) — Amid the heaviest trading in more than a year, the stock market carved out a strong advance with speculative mines showing the way.

The final volume of 5,815,000 shares was the heaviest since June 11, 1957, when 5,851,000 shares were exchanged.

Ten low-priced mines accounted for more than a half of the total volume. Of these, New Hoco was the feature, jumping 62 cents to $1.97 before settling at $1.73 at the close, amid a turnover of 940,525 shares.

Other active speculative mines with volumes of at least 122,000 shares were Goldfields (Toronto), Donalda, Lexindin, Starnett, International, Ranwick, Central Porcupine, Norval, Wilsey and Barnat.

Moore Corp., led industrial winners with a three-point gain to a 1958 high of 75. Refining oils, pipelines and papers were also strong with gains ranging from two to five points. Losses were generally outnumbered by gains and most of the declines were less than a point.

Western oils and other mines moved ahead in a moderate range with fairly heavy trading.

Gains Widespread
MONTREAL (CP) — Prices moved up across the board in brisk closing trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

A number of gains more than a point were registered. Up 1 1/2 each were Power Corporation at 64 1/2 and Dominion Stores at 66 1/2. Gains of 1 1/2 were made by International Paper at 96 1/2 and Ford at 87 1/2.

Trans Mountain at 54 1/2 and Stelco at 62 1/2 gained 1 1/2 each.

New High Reached
NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks advanced to new highs for 1958 in the general average on increased volume in the pre-hour session.

In ordinary circumstances the market meets profit-taking and evening up operations in advance of a long weekend holiday. However, speculative interest seemed to pick up in the low-priced shares and investment buying helped buoy up the blue chips.

Near closing time, the new comer to the market, Reichold Chemicals, produced some fireworks by rising nearly 8 points. Since it was listed a few weeks ago, this issue has risen by 18 points. Most other chemicals ruled firm.

The oils advanced fractions to more than a point except Richfield which lost more than 2. Steels and motors held well. Tobacco came back after a sharp drop. Some utilities strengthened. A long list of special issues moved ahead. Rails generally presented a strong front.

Pipelines Advance
VANCOUVER — Pipelines were a strong feature with Trans Mountain at $33 1/2, Trans Canada at $27 1/2 and Prairie Pipeline at $23 1/2. Woodwards Pipeline at $14 1/2 and MacMillan at $29. Imperial Investment was up 25 cents at $10 1/2.

New Hamil led mines higher at 26 cents while Far West Tungsten moved ahead to 14 cents. Coppers were dull and little changed.

Oils were mixed.

May Become Biggest in Canada

Pacific Pete Grows

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Pacific Petroleum took another step to making itself one of the largest independent Canadian oil companies when it offered yesterday to take over the shares of Canadian Atlantic Oil by an exchange of one Pacific share for each three Canadian Atlantic shares outstanding.

lantic have accepted the offer, and are calling a meeting of shareholders to vote on the proposal.

Canadian Atlantic holds interests in over 6,000,000 acres in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, and in 80 producing oil wells and 74 gas wells. It also has interests in Cuba and Venezuela.

If the deal is approved Pacific Petroleum funds will be increased by the winding-up value of 525,586 shares which it owns in Canadian Atlantic.

As of Oct. 31, 1957 Canadian Atlantic had 3,267,657 shares outstanding. It has also given an option to Sinclair Oil Corporation of America to acquire up to June 30, 1959, Canadian Atlantic stock equal to one third of the outstanding shares.

The new deal will possibly make Sinclair Oil a major shareholder in Pacific Petroleum.

As a result of the offer shares of Canadian Atlantic have risen in market value from $4.20 to $5.70 in the past few days. Pacific Petroleum has remained around $18.

PROFITS DIP 20 PER CENT
A measuring stick of what the current recession means to the investor in common stocks was given yesterday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Companies which grossed $5 a share in the first quarter of 1957 have had to be content with $4 this year.

The DBS figures show that corporation profits fell 20 per cent to $340,000,000 from $425,000,000 a year ago—a drop of $85,000,000.

Not only the investor suffered. The government which levies a 47 per cent corporation tax on gross profits collected only $235,000,000 this year, a drop of $90,000,000 from the $325,000,000 of the first quarter of 1957.

The amount left in net profit to the companies and their shareholders after the government took its whack was

Ocean Iceberg Miles Long

LONDON (UPI) — An iceberg five miles long was reported drifting toward North Atlantic shipping lanes yesterday, and ships were alerted to keep away from it.

The giant iceberg, one of the biggest recorded in the area in summer time, was

BANK RATE LOWER
With the government faced with heavy new financing during the next nine months, it is not surprising that efforts are being made to keep money flowing easily.

The Bank of Canada yesterday announced its rediscount rate for the week was 1.56 per cent, down 11 per cent from the 1.97 per cent level of a week ago.

The Bank rediscount rate has a distinct bearing on bond market prices, and a low rate would make it easier for the government this fall to launch new successful fund raising drives at reasonable interest rates.

PICK-UP SHOWING
A pick-up in business is indicated in the report of Hiram Walker Gooderham and Worts Ltd. for the quarter ending May 31, 1958. The net profit for the quarter was $4,494,219 (50 cents a share) against $4,342,994 (50 cents a share) in the corresponding quarter of 1957.

The improvement on a year ago for this quarter is at variance with the results for the nine month period. In this period of 1958 fiscal year Walker made $16,333,151 ($1.90 a share) compared with the high aggregate of $17,326,474 ($2.00 a share) in the nine month period ending May 31, 1957.

Builders Seek Servicing Loans
OTTAWA (UPI) — The federal government was asked Thursday to step up aid to housing mortgages and greatly expand assistance for servicing land being rapidly used up.

The National House Builders Association, representing 2,400 builders, made these proposals in a brief to the senate standing committee on finance.

The senate committee, reviewing activities of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, was told the supply of serviced land was being rapidly used up.

Federal aid in this field under the National Housing Act was "a mere drop in the bucket."

"Land servicing is dealt with on a hand-to-mouth basis, with the results that a maze of conflicting, often non-cooperating, authorities have been created," the association said.

"Their operations often result in expensive delays that further boost prices."

Timely Topics For Investors

Protocol Broken By Tape, 'Wife'

LONDON (Reuters)—Tradition of etiquette in introducing royalists took note yesterday Alice Ellis, 52, a widow, as his presence of royalty while other Britons passed the incidents off as magnified molehills.

Bristol police Wednesday nabbed a man trying to tape-record the Queen Mother's voice at a livestock fair, confiscated his tapes and grilled him for four hours.

A member of Glamorgan town council demanded the resignation of another councillor for pretending to the Queen that a woman he lives with is his wife.

Robert Hyde, 35, said police "treated me like a criminal" after they broke up his attempt to record the Queen Mother's remarks.

Police promised to return the seized tapes after they had "cleared" them.

Grimsby councillor Tom Mould, a 37-year-old blacksmith, laughed off demands that he resign for the "grave breach

WHY DOES ONE COST MORE?

Although two diamonds may be identical in size, they may be hundreds of dollars apart in price. The reasons: finer colour, cutting, and clarity all affect the value of a diamond.

No one can judge a diamond with the eye alone. At Birks, our gemologists have the most advanced scientific instruments to assist them in selecting the finest quality gems. We will be pleased to show you how Birks diamonds are selected for colour, cutting and clarity — as well as for carat weight.

A Salute to Pioneer Women of B.C.

Most of the history of the Pacific Northwest has been written from a man's point of view. Tales of adventure in the days record the exploits of the sea captain, the soldier, the fur trader, the farmer, the engineer, the administrator. But there were women too—and what women they must have been! Some frilled and flounced, in crinolines and curls, newly arrived from the sheltered shores of England... others in simple serge dresses with shawls and moccasins, women who crossed the plains up from the United States or who marched through the passes of the Rockies with their babies strapped to their backs. Fashionable Colonial ladies or wind-burnt plains women, they shared a common ideal: to follow their men without question or complaint, to bear children to people this new land, to make a home, plant a garden in a clearing... in short, to help build a nation.
